

Notes: Part 8, Division 3 of the OPGGS (RMA) Regulations (the regulations) specifies the timeframes under which disclosable information may be made publically known. The following information regarding Drilling and well activity data is generally released either 2 years after completion (basic data) or 5 years after completion (interpretative data).

Survey data is generally released either 3 years after completion (basic data) or 5 years after completion (interpretative data). An extended period of confidentiality may apply however in relation to data acquired on a non-exclusive basis.

Basic well and survey data for activities conducted under a petroleum title becomes eligible for release the day that title expires, is surrendered, cancelled, revoked or terminated.

Under certain circumstances (see Part 8, Division 2 of the regulations) the Titles Administrator may require data to remain confidential in excess of these provisions.

All data listed in this schedule is subject to final confirmation prior to release.

It is NOPTA's practice to process data release authorisations on the first business day of the week following earliest release date. Once released by NOPTA, the data will become available via Geoscience Australia (ausgeodata@ga.gov.au) or the NOPIMS as soon as possible.

All questions relating to the release provisions of the regulations or this preliminary release schedule, should be directed to data@nopta.gov.au
